G. S. Redlon & Sons, Inc. is a family-owned and operated excavating contractor business that was established in 1950 by George S. Redlon. His son Paul M. Redlon took over the business after his passing in 1977. Paul carried on the family name and the virtues of hard work, loyalty and trust. Currently employed by the business are Paul's sons, George S. Redlon, Michael P. Redlon and daughter Stacey A. Redlon. The fourth generation is ready to keep this family business going into the future with Michael's sons, Caleb M. Redlon, Collin P. Redlon and daughter Ava M. Redlon.

Being an excavating contractor tends to be an unappreciated job, since we are usually done and gone before the first nail is driven. After a new roadway is paved, everyone tends to forget all the hard work and planning beforehand. Luckily, we were invited to work with people that understand this and allowed us to be a part of the planning process. Owner/architect Robert Pineo of Pineo Development, and builder Michael Chuippi of QP Construction, recognize the body of work. They gave us the opportunity to work closely with them during the preconstruction of their subdivision, "The Uplands," located in Middleboro, MA. They asked for, valued and respected our opinion, which is all you can ask for out of a developer/builder.

ety of services, from commercial to residential. Your home is your piece of this world, and we get satisfaction in helping you accomplish your projects of any size. Our office has employees that are willing to help, whether you're an everyday customer, or just someone looking for direction. The men in the field are among the best at their positions. They work tirelessly to turn out a good product each time, and they are willing to do extra to satisfy the customer. We work for the name on the door, and to give our customers the highest quality of work in our field. ■
